A LIE FOR A NICKEL.

The Street Car Conductor Makes Some Re marks About Certain Passengers. A man in a seersucker suit, and carrying cotton umbrella, was whispering to the actor when the reporter boarded the ear at Twelfth street yesterday. "Left my change home, you know. I'll pay you to morrow," was what the man was whis you to morrow, "was wast the man was wrispering.

"Can't help it, sir, you're into me for two fares now," said the conductor.

The man looked surprised, and then began an investigation of his pockets. The result was not suitated to the conductor again. The conductor said "No" in an emphatic tone.

"Oh well, it's all right, you know. Wish you would tell him," and the man smiled and dropped off the car.

"Do you have many like that?" asked the reporter.

"Do you have many like that?" asked the reporter.

"Do I have maney? Well, I should say so. That feller's a beat of the worst kind. He'll take the next car and pay his airs, and maybe he'll get on my car to morrow and try to work the same dodge." Then the conductor pulled the bell strip after an old lady had got on. "Where was I? Oh, yes; about them beats," he continued. "Why one day a man got on my car, and told an acquaintance while I was standing by how nicely he had beat a conductor. The next day he got on my car and began pleading the 'left' act. I told him of the conversation I had overheard, and he paid his fare."

Solversation I had overheard, and he paid his fare."

"Day before yesterday," said the conductor as he assisted three little girls on and told the transfer agent at Seveniu street 'all right,' 'three women got on my car. They took seats inside and began to talk, and when I went in to collect fares they began searching their peckers and satchels for their tickets or nickels. They found none, and one of them said. 'Oh, all right conductor, 'FH pay you to-morrow.' But, say, that didn't go, it didn't, and I told them they'd either have to pay or get off. Well, they hunted and hunted, and dinally one of them found a roll of bills in her hand-ferrolled and paid the fare. She said she had forgot that she had brought any money with her. I tell you some people are insturally beats. Now these women just wanted to beat me and I can't stand it, cause I only get $2 a day."

"How?"

"Well, you see I have to punch my slip for every "passenger, and I am responsible for Now these women just wanted to beat me and i can't stand it, cause I only get $2 a day."

"How ?"

"Well, you see I have to punch my slip for every passenger, and I am responsible for every punch. If there's any short I have to make up for it, and if I punched for every person I couldn't buy a sandwich with what remained of my salary. Why one day I counted up thirty-seven persons who asked me to punch for them and promised to pay "to-morrow, but 'to-morrow never comes with them, it don't. There are some people I have loaned a ticket, but after I had found them out you bet I drop on them and don't let them bilk me any more."

"A funny thing occurred on my car Sunday," and the conductor suilled as three people got off at the capitol. "When I got to seventeenth street, on my up-trip, there were seven widers in my car, and all were sitting on one side. That one, the suny side. I went in and canvassed the crowd, and but four of them had their fares. The other three didn't lave a cent, but one of the four paid their fares. Not one of them knew the other, and I doubt if the one who paid the fares got her money back, but I don't care, cause I got my fares. Well, say, ther's about a thousand people ride on this road a day, and 990 of them are busy while waiting for a car thinking up-ome schemeto beat the conductors. They hope that they won't be noticed getting on the ear, but they're off there, 'cause a conductor watches, and its seldom that a fare scenes him." Then the conductor said he was on time, and bit off a section his tobacco plug.

Suit Against Commissioner West.

Mr. C. C. Bryan, by a bill in equity against John R. West, district commissioner, and J. John R. West, district commissioner, and J. Hale Sypher, seeks to have the latter discharged as trustee under a certain deed of trust. Mr. Bryan complains that Mr. West owed him $2,900 for goods, and on June 27, 1879, gave his note for the same, secured by a deed of trust on the furniture in house No. 815 Fifteenth street northwest, with Mr. Sypher as trustee. He says that the note has been long overdue, and over $200 of the amount remains unpaid, and Mr. West declines to pay it. Mr. Hryant says that he has notified Mr. Sypher of the default, and requested him as trustee to take possession of the chattels and sell them, that he may obtain the balance due, but Mr. Sypher has informed him that he will not do it, preferring to surrender the trust. For this reason the discharge of the trustee is requested.

Last championship game with Cincinnati,

Charles G. Taylor, charged with forging the name of Edward D. Easton to a check for $80, got out of his trouble in the criminal court got out of his trouble in the criminal court yesterday very eleverly. Mr. Daniel E. Cahili, who was assigned to the case by the court steering him clear of the penitentiary for the time. The indigement charged that it was a check on "the National Metropolitan bank of Washington," and the proof showed it to be a check on "the National Metropolitan bank." Mr. Cahill raised the point that there was a variance and that it was fatal to the indictment. The court sustained the point, and the defendant was acquitted.

dant was acquitted. Mass Meeting at Irving Park. meeting of Bhithe and Logan clubs will be held at Irving park next Friday. The follow ing distinguished speakers have been invited; Gen. John A. Logan, Hon. B. K. Bruce, Hon. John A. J. Creswell, Win. M. Marine, esq., Prof. R. T. Greener, Hon. John R. Lynch, of Mississhpi, Hon. J. H. Ralney, Hon. A. Sterling, jr., Hon. Frederick Douglass, Win. E. Matthews, esq., Dr. Win. H. Bishop, of Anapolis. The American Cornet band has been engaged and there will also be string music. The Baltimore rifles, the Monumental City guards, the Baltimore City guards, the Capital City guards, and companies A and B, Washington cadets have been invited.

If you make it a rule to flavor all your cold drinks with ten or fifteen drops of Angostura Bitters you will keep free from summer diseases, and have your digestive organs in good order. But be sure you get the genuine article, manufactured only by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons

Two Wills Recorded. The register yesterday received two wills for probate and record, neither of which made any public bequests. That of Lena Riley leaves everything to her relatives and friends and that of the late John Ricks directed the sale of the personalty and a division of the proceeds between the wife and children.

Mr. PHILIP REICHART, postmaster, New Baden, Robinson county, Texas, writes that Mr. Charles Levine was entirely cured of rheu-matism by St. Jacobs Oll, the great pain cure.

Contest of the Moore Helrs. A bill has been filed in equity by James F. Moore and others against George C. Moore and others, heirs of John Moore, deceased, asking that the defendants be enjoined from interfer-ing with the property or rents pending the testing of the validity of the will, and that a receiver be appointed for the estate.

THE DIVORCE RECORD.

Mrs. Lobisa F. Walker and Edward Cabell Become Unmarried Again.

Mrs. Louisa F. Waiker, by her attorneys, Messrs. Harris and Oliver, yesterday brought grist to the mill by filing an application for divorce from John O. Walker and asking to be given the custody of their children. Her malden name was Louisa F. Winter, and she married with the defendant at the house of her married with the defendant at the house of her mother, in this city, on Aug. 10, 1876. They lived together three years, when he suddenly disappeared, but after a few months' absence as suddenly returned, and made no explanation of his conduct.

She also states in the petition that under the name of John Walker he was sentenced in the criminal court of this district for an offense of which he was previously convicted to two years in the Albany penitentiary. After serving the time out he did not return home, has falled to support the family, and the last she heard-of him was that he wash Philadelphia. The court record shows that Walker was convicted on March 5, 1880, of obtaining money under false pretenses from John C. Schneider, and a week later was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

Justice MacArthur granted Edward Cabell divorce from Hannah E. Cabell. They were married in 1862, and he charged her with deserting him twelve years afterward.

DENTIST,

601 THIRTEENTH STREET, CORNER F STREET,

ormerly Expert of the SHEFFIELD TOOTH CROWN COMPANY, New York City, has located at 601 THIRTEENTH STREET, CORNER F. Makes a specialty of Tooth Crowns and Artificial Teeth Without Plates. This system entirely obviates the necessity of extracting teeth, does away with artificial teeth, prevents the suffering caused by decay of the teeth and consequent extraction of the roots (producting a change in the expression of the face and mouth), and avoids the pain and excessive annoyance. By this method roots and badly decayed teeth, which are firm in position, may be restored to a frect usefulness and beauty, performing the office of mastication like the natural teeth.
